

FIGHT AGED WOMAN'S RICHES

Mrs. Sarah N. Waters, Who Is a Centenarian, Is in Bed While Doctor and Lawyer Strive for Property.

DISPUTE AT HER BEDSIDE.

Struggle Long Waged at Her Home Transferred to Courts—Application to Set Aside Appointment of Referee.

While Mrs. Sarah N. Waters, who is said to be one hundred years old, lies abed at her home, No. 421 West Twenty-first street, childless, friendless and feeble in mind and body, a fight long waged across her bed for her money has been transferred to the Supreme Court.

Real estate and personality valued at $200,000 furnish the bone of contention between her banker and her family physician. For months they have carried on a vicious warfare in and out of court for control of her estate. The one least concerned is the aged woman whose closing hours have been troubled by the plots and counterplots of those about her. Day by day the banker and the doctor have stood at opposite sides of her bed and fought with one another to win from her some feeble utterance that would make one of the other the legal guardian of her affairs.

The doctor is fighting in behalf of the two daughters of an adopted daughter of the aged woman. The banker is fighting for himself. He declares that the three daughters have no right to the estate, because their mother was "only a servant," as he puts it and was never adopted by Mrs. Waters. Publicity was given this strange situation when a motion to vacate an order of "sale" filed in the Supreme Court by W. B. E. Jones, Jr., referee to take testimony in the legal battle over the woman's affairs, was argued before Justice Leventritt. The affidavits in the case tell a story that reads like fiction.

Lived a Century.

For a century Mrs. Waters has been a resident of Manhattan, and for half a century she has lived at No. 421 West Twenty-first street. Although three times married she is childless. Forty years ago she adopted a girl from the home of the Philadelphia.

William G. Conklin, secretary of the Franklin Savings Bank, is the defendant in the suit pending. He is charged by Mrs. Waters, through her attorney, with having obtained from her a deed to her property in West Twenty-first street when she was not able mentally to realize what she was doing. The suit, though brought in Mrs. Waters' name, is actually by Dr. James A. Campbell, of No. 320 West Twenty-first street, who is charged with having taken possession of the property. Mrs. Waters' friend, Dr. James A. Campbell, who makes many charges against Mr. Conklin in connection with the management of Mrs. Waters' financial affairs.

Mr. Conklin says that he has acted as Mrs. Waters' financial adviser since 1870. At that time she was seventy years old. He says that he has acted as her adviser ever since. He claims, she told him that as a reward for his services she wished to deed him her home. She said she had no natural heirs and her adopted daughter and her children she did not like. Mr. Conklin claims that she asked him to keep her adopted daughter, Mrs. Le Brant, and her three daughters out of her house.

Got Deed of House.

On Aug. 23 Mr. Conklin claims, the house was deeded to him. In the recorded deed Mrs. Waters' signature does not appear. It is subscribed to simply by an "X" mark.

On Nov. 18 Dr. Campbell and a lawyer called on Mr. Conklin and presenting a power of attorney demanded the surrender of all papers and property of Mrs. Waters in his possession. Mr. Conklin refused and then began the series of visits to Mrs. Waters' bedside by the banker and the doctor. It was learned that Mr. Conklin had installed his sister-in-law as nurse of Mrs. Waters and that he had in his possession mortgages and other securities of Mrs. Waters valued at $100,000.

Dr. Campbell brought suit for Mrs. Waters to annul the deed in Mr. Conklin's hands and for the return of all her property. She was examined by alienists in preparation for the suit and pronounced incapable of transacting business. The appointment of a referee followed.

What the Fortune Is In.

So far as known the estate of the old lady consists of the house and lot No. 421 West Twenty-first street, valued at $15,000, various mortgages, and large sums in cash deposited with trust companies and savings banks, besides jewels which are said to be of value.

Two of the daughters of the adopted daughter, Sadie and Dora Le Brant, live with Mrs. Waters now and take care of her. Their mother has remarried and lives in West Twenty-first street. The neighbors all say that their mother was certainly raised as a daughter, and that Jones, who was Mrs. Waters' husband at the time the child was taken from the institution, never knew it was not his own. Mrs. Waters' son, who was very anxious for an heir and his wife played this trick on him and his wife. Mrs. Waters is now too feeble to tell anything about this.

Mr. Conklin told an Evening World reporter to-day: "The property was transferred to me because Mrs. Waters wanted me to be her agent and look out for her. The two girls have no claim on the property. They are only the daughters of a servant. Their mother was never adopted." "What are you going to do with the property?" he answered. "I am sitting up nights worrying about it now," he answered.

He refused to say whether any more property than that where the old lady lives had been transferred to him and referred the reporter to his lawyer.

FIGHT MASHES WITH A DAGGER.

Pretty Mrs. Emerson, Whose Beauty Makes Her a Prey to the "Oglers," Defended Herself with Vigor.

SCARED THREE OF THEM.

One of the Fellows Who Laid Violent Hands on Her Is Badly Scarred—She Used a Revolver to Good Effect on Another Occasion.

All women love to be admired for their beauty, but there are some whose delicately modeled features, beautiful dreamy eyes and deliciously graceful figures possess that peculiar subtle charm which is a source of continual distress to them in that it attracts the invidious attentions of those pests of society who feel it their duty to annoy every woman who fascinates them.

Probably there are few if any women who possess this strange power to fascinate all who behold and who have suffered from it more than Mrs. Emerson, of No. 60 West Ninety-eighth street. Mrs. Emerson is one of those dainty little blondes who looks as if she had just stepped from the canvas of some famous delineator of beautiful faces. From the tip of her foot to the coil of her golden hair she is an alluring charm.

When she passes along the street every one turns to watch her, and of course the masher annoys her.

Dagger to Protect Her.

But Mrs. Emerson has proved her ability to protect herself from these fellows on more than one occasion. On Wednesday morning she was followed to the very door of her apartment by three of them. She turned upon them and fought them off with a dagger, slashing one of her persecutors about the face until, dripping with blood and cut in a dozen places, he was dragged away by the other two, when all three rushed into the house.

Mrs. Emerson was returning from a shopping tour, when she noticed that three well-dressed young men were following her. She hastened as she neared her home and they, too, walked faster. Then she thought she might throw them off the trail by doubling back, but they hung on the trail like blood-hounds, and finally breaking into a run, she made for her apartment and rushed upstairs. Before she could gain the door of her apartment one of the men had seized her about the waist on the landing.

Used Revolver Once.

Some time ago Mrs. Emerson's hand had given her a little revolver with which to ward off masher, but when one day she snapped it in the face of an ogler she was arrested. Then her husband got her a little dagger which could be used in a more effective way if necessary. So when the men grabbed her about the waist she drew it and struck him full in the face with its sharp point, inflicting a deep gash. As he did not release his hold she struck and struck him full in the face with its sharp point, inflicting a deep gash. As he did not release his hold she struck and struck him full in the face with its sharp point, inflicting a deep gash.

At this time she was screaming for assistance and the men were hurrying to their doors, the other two men who had followed the boldest one into the apartment, fearing great, dragged their companion away and hurried him into the street.

"I don't know who the men were," said Mrs. Emerson to an Evening World reporter to-day, "and I can't understand why it is that I am so persistently persecuted. I am sure that I never give these men the slightest encouragement. But I do want to make the least difference. Whenever I am accompanied I am made miserable by some man's attention. When I walk along the street the first thing I know is that some one is following me. I know it by the way whoever it is, keeps step with me. When I slow up to let them pass they slow up and when I hurry they hurry. I stare into my face until I could cry out, if it was not for the fear of attracting attention."

"It is the same way when I ride in street cars. Always some one ogles or nudges me, until my very life is made a burden."

Men Implicated in New Jersey Silk Robbery Sentenced To-Day.

Both men filed notices of appeal and were released on $5,000 bail each. John J. Kelly and Frederick Wilson, found guilty of stealing the silk which Simon and Kreyer were convicted of receiving, were also sentenced to-day. Kelly to three years at hard labor and Wilson, on account of his youth, to the reform school.

Old Mr. Rogers Expires in Hospital from Exposure, Though Daughter Had Hunted for Him. Philadelphia's "Jekyl and Hyde" Criminal Must Serve Fifteen Years in the Penitentiary.

(Special to The Evening World.) PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—George Dickinson, alias Westcott, was sentenced by Judge Martin to fifteen years in the Eastern Penitentiary in the Quarter Sessions Court this morning, after Dickinson pleaded guilty to five bills of indictment charging him with burglary and had been convicted of assault and battery and attempt to kill Policeman Charles Carroll, of the Twenty-ninth District. The jury had also found him guilty on thirteen other charges of burglary.

Ten years of sentence were imposed on the burglary charges and five years for the assault committed upon the officer.

A large crowd had assembled in the courtroom to get a look at the burglar who had been so many sensational stories have been told, some of which described him as well-dressed and clever, having the appearance and manners of a gentleman or a prosperous merchant.

REVOLVER IS USED BY LABOR LEADER. FOOTBALL ENDS ONE MORE PLAYER'S LIFE.

President of State Federation Tries to Enforce an Order to Strike by Firing Five Shots. Michael Gillies, Thirteen-Year-Old Lad, of Staten Island, Dies from His Injuries.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 5.—Martin F. Murphy, President of the State Federation of Labor, was arrested to-day on a charge of assault, first degree. He was arraigned this afternoon, pleaded not guilty and was released on $1,000 bail. According to reports, Murphy visited the Snow Steam Pump Works this morning and ordered a strike of the moulder, but a number refused to quit work. Foreman Belp remonstrated with Murphy and attempted to force him out of the shop. Murphy drew a revolver and fired five shots, none of which took effect. Murphy was arrested.

He refused firing any shots, but says he heard several revolver shots. He says he was jumped on by several men and he was kicked. He has a large scalp wound on the head.

MISTAKE, SAYS REGISTRAR GEAR. THIEF CLEANED OUT THE FLAT.

Ordered by Magistrate to Pay His Wife $10 a Week for Her Support, He Says She Deserted Him. W. A. Carpenter Went Home to Find His Apartments Robbed of Everything but the Stove and the Piano.

HE WAS PAROLED IN COURT. CARPETS, TOO, WERE GONE.

Col. Alonzo S. Gear, Water Registrar of the Borough of the Bronx, living at No. 68 East One Hundred and Thirty-eighth street, was arrested on a warrant this morning and arraigned before Magistrate Brann in the Morrisania Court, on complaint of his wife, Josephine, who charged him with not supporting her properly.

The warrant was issued by Magistrate Brann after two unsuccessful attempts had been made to serve Col. Gear with summonses, and was executed by Officer Cox, of the Morrisania Court squad.

Col. Gear was ordered by the Magistrate to pay his wife $10 a week, and he was paroled in the custody of Probation Officer McCue. The case was heard in the private examination room of the Morrisania Court and all possible effort was made to prevent the proceedings becoming public.

All that transpired could not be learned, but Benjamin Baker, counsel for Mrs. Gear, told the Magistrate that she had not had a square meal in months. Col. Gear exclaimed on hearing the remark that there was not in all New York a woman "who ate a bigger meal or enjoyed it more" than his wife.

The couple have been married about ten years. Col. Gear is sixty-seven years old. He married his wife when she was sixteen, and for about three years started her as a singer in European cities, it being said that she sang before royalty. Col. Gear is a member of the Republican and the City Clubs and in appearance looks like "Buffalo Bill."

Col. Gear was much disturbed last he should be misrepresented with regard to his trouble and undue notice given to it. He said:

"A middle-aged woman induced my wife to leave me to court on a charge of abandonment. The proceedings and the preponderance of testimony in my favor showed beyond any question that she abandoned me. It was settled by my agreeing to pay her $10 a week. The Magistrate saying he had no doubt we would settle our differences and become reconciled."

He said the matter was a little affair deserving of little attention, but he intimated that he feared official scandal and endeavor to make capital out of it.

HAMMER IS BROKE.

Policeman Files Petition in Bankruptcy. With No Assets.

Edward J. Hammer, a policeman, living at No. 519 East Eighty-third street, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy to-day in the Clerk's office of the United States District Court.

His liabilities, according to the petition, amount to $1,942.20, with no assets. The petition also states that he owed for the past six months at No. 9 Oak street, which, according to the directory, is the Oak street police station.

All of Policeman Hammer's indebtedness was incurred within the past two years, and consists chiefly in obligations for borrowed money, together with jewelry, men's furnishings, groceries, rent, shoes, clothing and other necessaries. The "borrowed" money, however, predominates.

KAISER RAPS SOCIALISTS.

Says They Are Only a Hindrance to Workmen.

BRESLAU, Prussia, Dec. 5.—Emperor William, addressing a deputation of workmen to-day, made a bitter attack on Socialist speech, declaring it was a lie to say that workmen had any right to the Socialist party or a betterment of their position.

The Socialists, he added, had terrorized and tried the workmen under foot and as men of honor they must have no more to do with them.

Mrs. F. Wright, of Oelwein, Iowa, is another one of the million women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Overshadowing, indeed, is the success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—compared with it all other medicines for women are experiments.

Why has it the greatest record for absolute cures of any female medicine in the world? Why has it lived and thrived and done its glorious work among women for a quarter of a century? Simply because of its sterling worth. The reason that no other medicine has ever reached its success is because there is no other medicine so successful in curing women's ills. Remember these important facts when a druggist tries to sell you something which he says is just as good.

A Young New York Lady Tells of a Wonderful Cure.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—My trouble was with the ovaries. I am tall, and the doctor said I grew too fast for my strength. I suffered dreadfully from inflammation and doctored continually, but got no help. I suffered from terrible dragging sensations with the most awful pains low down in the side and pains in the back, and the most agonizing headaches. No one knows what I endured. Often I was sick to the stomach, and every little while I would be too sick to go to work for three or four days; I work in a large store, and I suppose standing on my feet all day made me worse.

"At the suggestion of a friend of my mother's I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it is simply wonderful. I felt better after the first two or three doses; it seemed as though a weight was taken off my shoulders; I continued its use until now I can truthfully say I am entirely cured. Young girls who are always paying doctors' bills without getting any help, as I did, ought to take your medicine. It costs so much less, and it is sure to cure them.—Yours truly, ADELAIDE PRAHL, 174 St. Ann's Ave., New York City.

Women should not fail to profit by Miss Adelaide Prahl's experiences; just as surely as she was cured of the troubles enumerated in her letter, just so certainly will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure others who suffer from womb troubles, inflammation of the ovaries, kidney troubles, nervous excitability and nervous prostration. Remember that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing women, and don't allow any druggist to sell you anything else in its place.

If there is anything in your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. She can surely help you, for no person in America has such a wide experience in treating female ills as she has had. Address is Lynn, Mass.; her advice is free and always helpful.

$5,000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letter and signature of above testimonial, which will prove its absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.
